CADENHEAD'S
OLD RAJ

— DRY GIN —

Old Raj Gin is produced by compounding a gin flavor (essence) with a neutral Scottish grain spirit. The gin essence is prepared by steeping the botanicals, principally juniper, but also coriander seed, angelica root, lemon and orange peels, orris root, cassia bark and almond powder in an alcohol/water mixture for 36 hours and then distilling after a partial reflux in a small pot still.

Cadenhead's Old Raj Gin is distinctive in that it contains a measure of saffron, the rare and costly spice derived from the crocus flower. In addition to a slightly spicy flavor, this also imparts a pale yellow color to the Old Raj. The addition of the saffron is undertaken personally by the company chairman, in order to ensure a consistency in flavor and color each time Old Raj is bottled. It is bottled at two strengths, 46% ABV and 55% ABV. This represents a further departure from standard gin bottlings which are generally bottled at 40% ABV or less. Old Raj is a quality-orientated product targeted at the knowledgeable spirits consumer.

Originally a whisky and rum merchant, William Cadenhead Ltd has bottled Old Raj Gin since 1972.
