Laird's Applejack

Passed down through succeeding generations of the Laird family, they are now America's oldest family of distillers and only producer of Applejack.

Passed down through succeeding generations of the Laird family, they are now America's oldest family of distillers and only producer of Applejack.

This blend of 35% apple brandy and 65% neutral spirits really gives Laird's Applejack a smoother and deeper rich flavor. It retains a hint of the delicate aroma and flavor of the tree-ripened apples from which is was made. For this reason, Applejack imparts this delightful flavor and aroma to mixed drinks, punches, and food recipes.
