

What makes Pinhook extraordinary

- + Vintage approach breaks with tradition and invents a unique way to blend whiskey.
- + Modern bottle design stands out on the shelf and back bar.
- + Fair price makes Pinhook accessible by all and perfect for cocktail programs.
- + Higher proof stands up to dilution in a cocktail or when poured over ice.
- + Unfiltered to retain flavor and texture rather than chill-filtered.

The Whiskey with a Vintage Approach

Pinhook's remarkable bourbons and ryes are rooted in our vintage approach to blending; getting the best from every barrel year in and year out.

About Pinhook's unique vintage approach

The vintage approach allows us to appreciate and savor the nuances of each year's barrels, which are naturally shaped by the barrel oak, the climate, and the storage environment. Rather than following the traditional whiskey process that replicates flavor profiles, our vintage approach means that we blend and proof in annual vintages to release the best whiskey every year.

The Trifecta

Pinhook's bourbon and rye are blended for everyday drinking, but at a proof that stands up to dilution in a cocktail or when poured over ice. In addition, our newly released Cask Strength Bourbon is aged for 5 years to accentuate its complex flavors and deliver a long, balanced finish. Produced for continuous availability year around.

Vertical Series

A limited series of nine consecutive annual vintages that explores the true impact of age on a whiskey's character by following a single group of MGP barrels as they mature from 4 to 12 years of age. Different proofs are set each year to best express the unique attributes of that vintage's blend.
