GLENBURGIE

AGED 8 YEARS

Colour: Bright amber.

Nose: Honeyed pears in puff pastry.

Palate: Stroopwafel, gingerbread and allspice.

Finish: Scotch pancakes, maple syrup and cinnamon.

Started life in 1810 as Kilnflat Distillery but was completely rebuilt and renamed in 2003. Most of the equipment is new but the four stills, the mill and the boiler are original. Glenburgie is mainly to be found as one of the key malts in Ballantines and is rarely bottled as a single malt.

Maurice Welsh, the author of The Quiet Man (John Wayne film) was the Excise Officer at this Distillery!
